

ABSTRACT

CPU works in accordance with a program stored on program ROM to set a performance evaluation period based on contents of music data for evaluation stored on a music memory. CPU
5 evaluates performance of music data in every predetermined period and displays the evaluation results on a display device. When a user plays a music piece for evaluation, the user's performance technique is evaluated correctly, and it is expected that the user's performance technique is improved
10 efficiently.

15

20